The reason I want this is because I'm trying to make a little beginner game. The only way to lose the game is if the player inputs a number that isn't a number in the range 0 to 9. It must be a number, so the IF condition is set to False if it is not. I've put in the various print statements to check my logical steps, and they are returning the expected result for everything except when I do "Console.ReadLine()". It only returns "None" instead of "False" (as I expected). I've tried changing the condition to "if Console.ReadLine().ToLower()=="foo" : None", but that didn't change anything either. I've been trying to look through the internet, but I've found little things like Console.ReadLine() returns an object of type System.__ComObject.__ComObject() instead of a string, but that doesn't seem to be the issue here. Here's the whole program: using System; namespace ConsoleApp5 { class Program { static void Main(string[] args) { bool input = true; // Check if the input is a number if (Console.ReadLine().ToLower() == "foo" || Console.ReadLine().ToLowert) == "bar" || Console.ReadLine().ToLower() == "foobar
